Behavioural Technical Foul Process

1. Behavioural Technical Fouls

Behavioural Technical Foul is one which:

- shows some form of dissent (by word or action) towards a referee or their calls
- shows some form of disrespect (by word or action) towards match officials

2. Process to be followed

In cases like these, the referee will attempt to issue a warning to the player/coach although they are not required to do so:

- Continuing to discuss a call after the referee has responded,
- Holding arms in the air following a call for a prolonged period of time,
- Attempting to demonstrate actions such as traveling, etc, and
- Repeatedly asking questions, making comments, or gesturing in response to calls

In cases like these, the referee will issue a Behavioural Technical Foul without warning:

- Wave offs, aggressive or excessive motioning of the arms,
- Aggressive hand claps directed at an official or showing resentment for a call or non-call,
- Running towards or aggressively approaching a referee,
- Shouting a reaction to a call or using profanity,
- Extended or prolonged complaining about a call, particularly after being told to stop, and
- Not responding to a warning by repeating the action (or some other disrespectful action)
